CHAMBERSBURG WINS; 2-1

Beat us this Afternoon on Nixon Field in a Fast Game. Herman, Captain of Franklin and Marshall, at Second Base.

In a fast game this afternoon Eddie Hooper's Chambersburg "Maroons" downed Ira Plank's "Ponies" 2-1. The crowd was very small, due no doubt to the one thirty start, made necessary by the agreement with college authorities, but those present witnessed a fast game, actual playing time consuming 1:35.

Joe Baker was on the mound and was invincible, except in the fourth round. Baker fanned twelve Maroons and yielded only five hits but those two walks and Irwin's double broke up the game.

Ira Plank ran the club his first game and Art Herman, the popular second sacker, made his first appearance in a home uniform, playing a perfect fielding game but failing to land a safety.

Pedone, first man up for Chambersburg, singled through the pitcher's box. "Bugs" Snyder fanned. Clauser grounded to Stevens, forcing Pedone at second. Clauser tried to steal but Kohler caught him by a yard.

With one man down in the same inning "Mike" Fuhrey landed out his first 1916 Blue Ridge hit by burning one to right. Boyne flied to left, then "Mike" died stealing.

"Steiny" started the second with a single, taking second when Kolseth fanned Kohler's hot one. Neither Herman nor Stevens, however, could produce the necessary bingle.

Chambersburg broke open the scoring box in the fourth session. Baker passed the first two men, then fanned Kolseth, but Irwin spilled the juice by doubling to right, scoring Snyder and Clauser, who had moved up a peg on Stevens error of Baker's throw to catch Snyder.

A great chance came in the fifth. Herman flied to left. Stevens joined the hitting forces with a safety to left. Baker lammed one to center, "Steve" stopping at second. Copeland skied to center. Fuhrey walked, filling the bases but with three and two Malloy gathered in Boyne's long fly.

Plank's Ponies pushed one across in the last round on Baker's hit and steal, a passed ball and Kohler's infield out.

HARRY THAW HERE

Visits Town with Party of Friends Sunday Evening.

A crowd quickly gathered in front of the Crystal Restaurant, Sunday evening, when it was learned that Harry K. Thaw was one of the diners. He motored to Gettysburg with a party consisting of Mervin Johnson, David Miller and Miss Grace Bond.

As he left the restaurant, Thaw conversed with some of the bystanders about trains he could catch to Pittsburgh and left with his chauffeur a few minutes later, for Chambersburg, where he expressed an intention of taking a train to his home. The others in the party remained here and registered at the Eagle Hotel. The chauffeur brought the car back to Gettysburg and after touring the battlefield to-day, they left for New York.

WHAT WILL ADAMS COUNTY DO?

On Good Roads Day, Thursday, May 25th, President of Supervisors Association Urges Work in Every Township.

Although no concerted action has been taken by the county Supervisors' Association concerning plans for Good Roads Day, it is the desire of the officers that the supervisors of the various townships use every effort to get the people of their districts interested in the work for the day at least. Good Roads Day was instituted last year by the State Highway Commissioner. A day was set aside by the Governor, who urged every citizen to do what he could for the betterment of the highways, and generally it was a success. Women of Gettysburg volunteered to carry lunch to the men who were "on the job" that day, and in many parts of the county the result of that one day's work made it easier for the teams during the remainder of the year.

The Governor, who is a good roads enthusiast, has fixed Thursday, May 25th, as the day for the work to be done this spring. President C. J. Deardorff, and W. F. Watson, Secretary of the county association of supervisors, state that while they have been unable to bring the matter before the body they are especially anxious to have the individual supervisors take the necessary steps to get the men out on the roads in their own townships.

Over a dozen counties have already organized for work and probably twenty more will do so within the week according to word which has reached the offices of the State Highway Department. These organizations are for the purpose of systematizing the work so that places complained of on roads may be improved or bad grades removed, wagons and tools be properly distributed and meals and water provided. In some of the central counties offers of hundreds of men to go to any part of their townships have been received and farmers have agreed to devote all time to roads and to let farming go on that day. Another feature of the reports made regarding the popular interest is that offers of cash have been made by persons who will be unable to leave business or work on the day and the money will be devoted to purchase of materials, rent of tools or teams or labor.

There is no reason why Adams County should be behind any other county in the state. But the success of the day here depends upon the efforts of the supervisors. If they will determine to interview the more progressive farmers of their townships, and show an active interest themselves in the work, it will not be difficult to secure a sufficient number of teams and men to make a good showing. While this is the farmer's busy season, the man who thinks will realize that it pays to have good roads in his section.

The driver of the other car went on without stopping to inquire about the damage. Mr. Leas was not injured.

THIS FROM MAYOR OF HARRISBURG

Mayor Meals, Native of Bendersville, Gives Pertinent Advice to the Lovelorn and Others. Will be here this Week.

Mayor Meals, of Harrisburg, who is one of our county's own and frequently refers to the scene of his nativity, Bendersville, has given some advice at large upon the kissing question. The substance of it is, kiss early, often and with fervor. The mayor recently went on record in favor of his police force winking at spooning in the parks and now he commits himself still further on the side of cupid, when he advises Harrisburg girls not to be afraid of kissing—certainly not on account of the fear of contracting germs.

The mayor who, it must be kept in mind, also is a physician, qualified his advice to girls, as well as boys, that they have clean mouths and nice white teeth. Any person, therefore, who may hereafter raise the contention that kissing breeds disease should be referred to Mayor Meals. He will tell them that they are wrong—with emphasis on the last word.

"I agree with the physician of Boston, who said the other day we're getting 'germ mad,' as far as kissing is concerned," said the Mayor. "Now of course we should be particular in our kissing, but don't refrain from it because you think a kiss will send you to a hospital."

Here are some of Mayor Meals paragraphs of advice on kissing which might profitably be clipped and kept in a conspicuous place:

Young men and women should kiss—it would mean more marriages, more homes.

Naturally be particular whom you kiss.

Husbands and wives should kiss, it would mean fewer divorces.

Children kiss your parents, you would learn to appreciate them more.

Kiss your friends—you would have fewer enemies.

Kiss your enemies—you'll make them your friends.

Although the foregoing article has nothing to do with the state of his health, lately the mayor has not been very well; and, if his present plans do not miscarry he expects to come to Adams County and renew old friendships some time this week. It is his intention to make Gettysburg his headquarters and motor over the county visiting acquaintances for four or five days.

WILL GET THEIRS

Court House outfit to get what they deserve.

Printers have long been known to rush in where angels fear to tread. Now, they have decided to accept the gauntlet flung down by the court house crowd that threatened to play base ball with all comers. There is no occasion to fear the result of the score with a bunch of that kind, but the dangers of playing the game with a team made up from the court officials is something to phase stouter hearts than the average. Imagine Charlie Gardner with a base ball in his hands.

Until arrangements can be made with some local insurance company and permission gained by their various families the personnel of the printers team will not be completed. Provided the printers bat first it is expected there will be but one inning. Announcement of the date for the carnage will be made later. Spectators are warned to attend at their own risk.

WOULD PURCHASE DANISH ISLANDS

President Said to Be Negotiating For West Indies.

PRICE IS PUT AT $5,000,000

Consist of 138 Square Miles and Have Population of 27,086 Persons, Mostly Negroes—Previous Efforts to Buy Islands Bailed—Of Great Strategic Importance.

President Wilson is said to be negotiating for the purchase of the Danish West Indies. The price tentatively agreed upon is $5,000,000.

A treaty between Denmark and the United States providing for the transfer of the three little islands in the Antilles has been drafted by Secretary of State Lansing and Constantin Brun, the Danish minister here.

Extraordinary measures have been adopted to guarantee consummation of the deal, which twice before has been frustrated by the opposition of the German government to acquisition of the islands by the United States. The plan is to put through the scheme at once while Germany is too busy fighting the allies to interfere.

The utmost secrecy regarding the negotiations is being observed, and it is intended to seek simultaneous ratification of the treaty by the American senate and the Danish parliament at a single sitting.

If the cession of the islands be effected President Wilson will have broken all records in the last fifty years for the peaceful extension of American dominion and influence. He already has established a protectorate over Haiti and acquired a powerful influence over Nicaragua by purchase of the interoceanic canal right of way.

Strategic Importance.

The Danish West Indies consist of the three small islands of St. Croix, St. Thomas and St. John, aggregating 138 square miles and possessing a population of 27,086 persons, mainly free negroes engaged in the cultivation of sugar cane. The islands, however, are of strategic importance, particularly in relation to the Panama canal.

Acquisition of the islands by an overseas power would be regarded by the United States as a violation of the Monroe doctrine. This menace will be removed by cession of the islands to the United States.

According to the purchase of the islands in 1867 for $7,500,000, but the treaty failed of ratification by the senate. Germany once sought to buy the islands, and the United States warned Denmark against making the sale. In 1902 Secretary of State Hay negotiated the purchase for $5,000,000, but the treaty was rejected by the Danish parliament.

Within the last few years a German corporation built immense docks at St. Thomas, and it was reported that Germany was intent on gaining a foothold in the group.

MOUNTAIN TOP BLOWN UP.

Younger Garibaldi Devised Exploit. Tunnel Dug Underneath.

According to the Milan correspondent of the London Chronicle, it was the younger Garibaldi, now serving as an officer in the Alpini, who originated the idea of capturing the summit of Col di Lana, the lofty mountain bar the Italian advance into the Cordevole valley in the Dolomites, by tunneling under it and blowing the whole top off the mountain, an enterprise which the Italian troops recently accomplished.

The task began on Christmas day, the dispatch says, of boring a gallery 250 feet long through solid rock. The tunnel was made large enough for two men to rush up it abreast to the assault after the explosion, and the mine charge consisted of ten tons of blasting gelatin and dynamite, while the shaft was closed with a massive shield of steel armor plate to protect the shaft and also permit it to be promptly opened for a charge after the explosion.

The mine was set off at 11:20 the other night and more than 200 Austrians killed in the explosion, while the position was swiftly rushed by the Italians.

FRANCE SPURNS PEACE PROFFER

Wants Germany to Ask For Terms, Says Poincare.

HE ANSWERS THE KAISER

Will Not Submit to the Conditions Offered and Insists Teutons Must be Vanquished.

Nancy, May 15.—President Poincare, in an address here, responded to Germany's declaration regarding peace contained in the German reply to the American note:

"France does not want Germany to tender peace," said the president, "but wants her adversary to ask for peace."

The president then made known clearly the only kind of peace which would be acceptable to France. The address was delivered at the Molitor garrison before a large number of Lorraine refugees, to whom the president, after expressing his sympathies and renewing promises of solicitude and protection said:

"France will not expose her sons to the dangers of new aggressions. The central empires, haunted by remorse for having brought on the war, and terrified by the indignation and hatred they have stirred up in mankind, are trying today to make the world believe that the entente allies alone are responsible for the prolongation of hostilities—a dull irony which will deceive no one.

"Neither directly nor indirectly have our enemies offered us peace. But we do not want them to offer it to us; we want them to ask it of us. We do not want to submit to their conditions; we want to impose ours on them. We do not want a peace which would leave imperial Germany with the power to recommence the war and keep Europe eternally menaced. We want peace which receives from restored rights serious guarantees of equilibrium and stability.

"So long as that peace is not assured to us; so long as our enemies will not recognize themselves as vanquished, we will not cease to fight."

President Poincare told the refugees that they were only a small number of the victims of the invasion; these were distributed in all parts of the country, and there was not a department that was not sheltering thousands. Everywhere they were waiting with calm confidence for the hour of deliverance.

SAYS BOY WAS KIDNAPED

Youngster of 13, Now 16, Back With Alleged Abductor.

Coatesville, Pa., May 15.—Mrs. George Garnet, this city, has found her son, William, aged sixteen.

He disappeared in 1913, and William Wray has been arrested for kidnapping the boy. Wray and the young man were arrested in Pittsburgh a few days ago as suspicious characters. The boy, following his arrest, broke down and told the Pittsburgh police a pitiable story and gave his real name. He had first said he was a brother of Wray. Wray and the boy were brought to this city and held for court.

It was in February, 1913, that the mother dressed her boy and sent him off on his way to school. That evening William failed to return, and Mrs. Garnet made every effort to find him, to no avail. Wray in 1913 boarded at the home of the boy, and following the latter's disappearance he also left. Chief Toomey, of Coatesville, made the complaint against the accused.

PRIZES FOR AVIATORS

Aero Club Offers $100,000 for Transcontinental Competition.

New York, May 15.—A transcontinental aeroplane competition, for which prizes amounting to $100,000 probably will be offered, has been decided upon by the Aero Club of America, it was announced.

The plan, which has for its object it was stated, the development of the aerial defense of the country, was signed by Ralph Pulitzer, of New York, who has donated a trophy for annual competition.

In a letter to the club, Mr. Pulitzer said: "It seems the irony of fate that the country of Langley, the Wright's and other pioneers who may be said to have given the world wings, lags last where it ought to be first."

The route for the transcontinental flight and the date will be announced later.

Turk, Then Stork, Unkind.

DUBLIN ENJOYS DAY OF LIBERTY

Asquith Relaxes Rigid of Martial Law.

Dublin, May 15.—The great modification in the regulations of martial law gave the people of Dublin a freedom of movement strongly contrasting what the restrictions imposed since the rebellion.

All may now come and go as they wish between the hours of four in the morning and midnight. During the remaining four hours they must keep within doors.

It is generally understood that Premier Asquith is responsible for this relaxation. The premier's study of conditions and the sentiments of the people convinced him that there was no great element of rebellious spirit remaining.

Mr. Asquith's chief occupation since his arrival in Dublin has consisted in seeking a method for the adjustment of the Irish crisis and in ascertaining whether it would be advisable to return to the former system of government or adopt a change of rule more in accordance with the wishes of the people. The premier has also given some attention to minor factors, these having to do with the disposal of the remaining rebel prisoners and compensation for the material damage done in Dublin.

Neither of these questions has yet been solved, but Mr. Asquith had an opportunity to see and question a number of rebels in the detention barracks and visited the ruins of the buildings destroyed in various sections of the city. The information he thus obtained may be of great service to him when the subject is brought before the cabinet on his return to London, which is expected at an early date.

KILLED BY ANGRY BULL

Farmhand Butted to Death in Barn by Infuriated Animal.

Easton, Md., May 15.—John Clague, who resides on the farm of J. Ramsey Speer, near Trappe, met with a horrible death as he entered his barn door, where he was met by an infuriated bull, that butted him down in the stall and kept it up until he had broken all the bones in his body on his left side and injured him internally.

As he was being beaten away by another man, who heard Mr. Clague's cries for help, he mashed all of the right side of his face by stepping on it. Dr. W. S. Seymour and H. L. Travers, who were hastily summoned, placed him in an automobile and started for the Emergency hospital at Easton, but he died just as the automobile stopped in front of the hospital door. He leaves a wife and four children.

GERMANS SLASH AT WEST FRONT

Seeking Weak Place For Drive to the Coast.

BRITISH THRICE ATTACKED

Crown Prince Less Active at Verdun, While French Savagely Assail Foes Positions at Hill 304.

London, May 15.—Revival of activity virtually along the entire western battle front in France is confirmed in authoritative despatches.

Frequent German thrusts against various parts of the Anglo-French battle line are regarded here as evidence that the Kaiser's commanders are seeking a new weak place for a new drive to the channel coast.

This theory is strengthened by advances from The Hague reporting the arrival of strong German reinforcements in Belgium, among the new troops being Turkish and Bulgarian regiments transferred from the Balkan front.

Latest reports from the Verdun region show the Germans less vigorous there and the French on the aggressive.

The fight at Verdun developed after a fierce artillery combat had raged along the entire sector west of the Meuse river. German gunners swept the French positions with shells for hours, aiming particularly at the trenches on Dead Man's Hill and at Hill No. 304. The French artillery replied energetically.

At the first lull in the artillery combat the French infantry at Hill No. 304 sprung from their trenches and charged the German lines. Armed with hand grenades the French advanced stubbornly. According to German advices, the engagement ended indecisively.

South of Roze, on the western front, the Germans were defeated in severe fighting in the wood of Loges, where they made an attack. In the north of Armentieres, Berlin despatches say, the Germans blew up a sap held by the British, and in the district of Givenchy-en-Gohelle, after several mines were set off, the Germans engaged with the British in a fight for possession of the craters caused by the explosions.

The two thrusts against the British sections of the battle line followed a particularly violent attack between the Somme river and Maricourt, where the British were called upon to face three charges by German infantry. In one of these assaults the Kaiser's troops entered the British trenches, but were expelled after severe fighting. The other two attacks were easily repulsed.

Aerial activity on the Balkan front is reported from Berlin, which asserts that aviators from the Anglo-French camp at Salonica dropped bombs on Mirovitz and Doiran, but were driven away by the fire of anti-aircraft guns. The official statement relayed from German army headquarters follows: "Western front: A reconnoitering detachment penetrated the enemy's second line near Ploegsteert wood, north of Armentieres, blew up a sap and returned with ten captured British soldiers. In the district of Givenchy-en-Gohelle mines were exploded in positions of the British. Fighting about the craters and in trenches was successful for us.

"West of the Meuse (Verdun front) a French hand grenade attack on Hill No. 304 was repulsed. The artillery was very active on both sides of the river.

"Eastern front: There were no events of particular importance.

"Balkan front: Hostile aviators who dropped bombs on Mirovitz and Doiran were driven away by the fire of our anti-aircraft guns."

BLACK HAND SLAYS HIM

Ten Bullet Holes in Young Allen Who Was Threatened.

Greenville, Pa., May 15.—Salvator Dillanto, twenty-six, an employee in the Bessemer shops, whose body was found near the plant of the Chicago Bridge and Iron works, lying almost submerged in a pool of blood and muddy water, was a victim of the Black Hand.

His body was perforated with ten bullet holes, any one of six of which would have been fatal. He was warned that his enemies "would get" him, and when found was armed with a big revolver and a stiletto with a 12-inch blade. State Trooper Cook, of the Butler station, and County Detective Hawes are working on the case.

EXAMINATIONS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Will be Finished Wednesday noon. Seniors then have Vacation for a Week. Honor Pupils Selected at End of Test.

High School Seniors are having a busy time this week. At least that is the way they look at it. They are in the midst of their final examinations. The tests in the Domestic Science and Art departments (which, by the way, is no longer designated by that name) started on Friday. The new title for the above department, according to a state inspector who visited the school last week, is "Household Arts." Those of us who desire to be correct will please remember to say "Household Arts" when we think of Domestic Science.

The Senior work will be concluded on Wednesday at noon, and those who have passes will enjoy a week's vacation before commencement. The others will 'enjoy' an indefinite vacation before their commencement. Examinations for the other three classes will be held after the senior exams are finished.

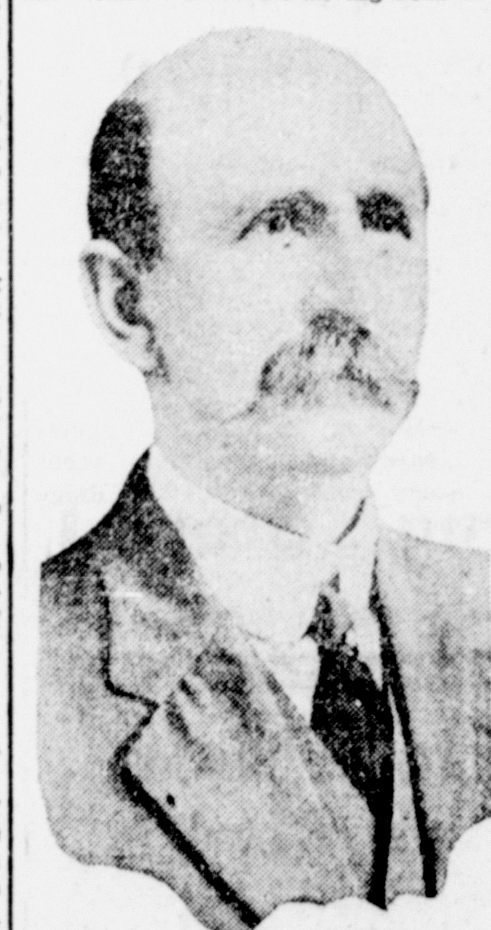

Those who have attained a general average of 90 per cent or better in their year's work, whose department marks are above 90 and who have not been absent for more than 10 days, are exempt from the final test, but all others are compelled to reach 75 per cent, with no mark lower than 70 in order to pass. In arriving at the student's final marks, the class work during the term counts for two thirds and the examinations for one third.

The salutatorian and valedictorian are selected from those who have attained the best marks of the class. In order to insure these positions some of the pupils who have made better than 90 in their class work also take the examinations for fear that another scholar may advance his mark sufficiently during this final test to supersede them and walk away with these coveted places.

Teachers of the Grammar school expect that about 50 pupils will be advanced to the High School for the fall term. Some announcements that are of interest to the pupils as well as to their parents are to be made during the course of the week.

Governor of New Mexico.

Recent disturbances on the Mexican border have been a source of considerable anxiety to Governor William C. McDonald. After the raid on Columbus he expressed his desire to aid the United States army to the extent of the ability of the state. New Mexico, being yet a baby state, has not a large militia, the total of enlisted men numbering about a thousand. Many of the citizens, however, having been engaged in ranching and cattle herding, are accustomed to rough riding and are experts in the use of arms.

Governor W. C. McDonald is the first chief executive ever elected by the voters of New Mexico. The state was admitted into the Union in January, 1912, and the governor was installed on Jan. 15 of that year. He is a native of New York and in his early manhood taught school and then studied law. In 1880 he removed to Kansas, subsequently going to New Mexico, where he became interested in mining and in cattle raising. Governor McDonald is a Democrat in politics and is about fifty-seven years of age.

WARSHIP RAMMED MULE.

British Vessel Thought Carcass Was a German Submarine.

British naval circles in London and elsewhere are laughing at the experiences of a certain British war vessel in the Mediterranean recently.

Steaming about on patrol duty and in search of a troublesome enemy submarine, the warship's lookout observed a suspicious appearing object several thousand yards away.

It looked remarkably like one of those new German submarines with four businesslike periscopes just clearing the surface of the water. The look-out gave the alarm, and instantly guns were throwing shells and shrapnel in the direction of the enemy.

As all good war vessels do in the face of danger, this warship forged ahead at full speed, though zigzagging a bit to minimize the danger of a possible torpedo. Drawing nearer, the enemy puffed out great clouds of smoke, and the warship's guns were fired in earnest, and there was need of respirators, which were brought with all speed from below.

Then the vessel rushed pell mell at the four periscopes in an effort to ram the fearless "unterseeboot."

The enemy was rammed accordingly. More gases contaminated the air, but there was a suspicious lack of chlorine, which is usually employed by the Germans.

It was not for some time, the reports in naval circles say, before all on board were aware that the enemy was, in fact, a decaying mule, evidently thrown overboard from some transport carrying artillery units.

Dog Tries to Rescue Another.

HANOVER WINS THIRD GAME

We Fail to Score while They Make 6 Runs. Poor Support is Blamed for Most of them. We now Stand 1 to 2.

After giving two splendid exhibitions of how the national pastime should be played, Plank's "Ponies" and Starr's "Raiders" came together on McAllister field on Saturday for the third game of the opening series, and the result was an extremely loosely played contest with the York Countymen on the long end of a six to nothing score.

Roy Myers was on the slab for Gettysburg and, contrary to the indications of the 6.0 score, kept up the good work of the two previous pitchers. Eight hits and four bases on balls were secured off his delivery, but it was the errors of his teammates with men on the paths that got Myers in trouble and resulted in the large total.

The opposing pitcher was "Hank" Knauer, a big fellow secured by Starr from Scranton. Knauer, though some what wild at times, pitched good ball and incidentally marked his entrance into the Blue Ridge by scoring a shut-out.

"Eddie" Copeland resumed his habit of getting on by cracking the first ball pitched a mile a minute down the third base line, "Billy" Starr not even having time to see the pellet. After an unsuccessful attempt to bunt, "Mike" Fuhrey forced Copeland at second. Acting Manager Boyne kept things on the move with a hot one to center, but Pownall's perfect peg caught Fuhrey at third. Stein waited for four wide ones, then Stevens popped to short.

"Artie" Kohler opened the second with a hit, going to third when Knauer threw Barber's grounder about a half mile over Harriety's head. Knauer then tightened, Oylor grounding out, Myers fanning and Copeland flying to short.

The "Ponies" last chance to do something interesting came in the seventh. With one man down Barber singled to left. Oylor walked, Myers fanned and then Copeland strolled, filling the sacks. Fuhrey landed on the first groove ball but it went straight to Crowder who forced Copeland at second.

Hanover's runs were the result of hits by Clunk, Stroh, Knauer, Caddin, Pownall and Starr intermingled with a walk and four errors.

Fence Busters

"Art" Kohler is lamming the pill with consistency, getting a hit each in the openers and two at Hanover on Saturday.

"Eddie" Copeland is a slick one at "getting on."

"Bill" Pownall had a big day with three hits, a stolen base, one put out and an assist.

Left fielder Barber has gotten four hits in the last two games.

"Kid" Stroh made a beautiful catch of Kohler's foul, in the ninth.

Stein made a hit with the Hanover bleacherites.

"Gus" Boyne's catch of Harriety's short fly back of first brought great applause from the crowd.

When Clunk lands on 'em they go. His three bagger lit among the autos in left center.

Myers and Knauer each walked four and fanned five.

Pownall will be hard to beat for stolen base honors.

Mackert fanned twice, a very unusual occurrence.

"Mike" Fuhrey had another perfect day in the field.

Myers, like Longacre, pitched ball that would have won an ordinary game.

When Stroh started the trouble, in

Hanover's fourth, with a single to right, Gettysburg rooters believed him already struck out, but that the "ump" missed the third one.

BEAT FREDERICK AGAIN

COLLEGE PLAYS WELL

Beat Villa Nova 3-0. Hoar has Nine Strike-outs.

Villa Nova went down to defeat at the hands of the college base ball team on Nixon Field, Saturday afternoon by a score of 3-0. Hoar was the hero of the game with nine strike-outs, while he allowed the visitors, who are supposed to be one of the strongest college teams, only four hits.

Gettysburg had nine hits, and neither team is credited with an error. The game was an excellent one throughout. It was decidedly the best one played on the home grounds by the college team during this season.

Villa Nova maintained their reputation for being disagreeable by continually fussing about decisions during the whole course of the game.

HIGH SCHOOL WON

Beat Thurmont 9-6 on Saturday afternoon in seven innings.

In a seven inning game with Thurmont, played on Saturday afternoon, the High School team defeated their opponents by a score of 9-6.

Gilbert won the game in the last inning with a home run when two other men were on bases. Up until that time the score was 6-6. Kendrick and Palmer did the mound work for the local boys.

BOYER TO RESIGN?

Word Comes from Hagerstown to that Effect.

The Morning Herald, of Hagerstown, says among other things about President Boyer of the Blue Ridge League:

"It is understood that Mr. Boyer will hand in his resignation as president of this league. This action will come as the result of the abuse which was hurled at him by fans from Chambersburg following the result of Saturday's game here with Chambersburg. The game was protested over alleged unfair decisions of Umpire Wisner, who also resigned as umpire after the game.

The announcement comes as a great surprise and regret on the part of every town in the circuit, who fully realized that through Mr. Boyer's untiring efforts, the Blue Ridge League finished the first season as an organized league, in a fine financial manner.

It is understood that his resignation will not be accepted. The writer was in communication with several of the other towns last night and in all cases, it was stated that Mr. Boyer's resignation would not be accepted. As for Mr. Boyer, he had nothing to say on the matter."

Kiev, sometimes called Kieff, is one of the oldest cities in Russia. It is called the "Mother of Russian cities." Ecclesiastically and intellectually, Kiev is one of the most important.

It was founded before the Christian era. It has nearly one hundred magnificent churches, many of them with gilded domes and pinnacles which, viewed from a distance, give the city a strikingly beautiful appearance.

THEY TELL YOU HOW TO VOTE

Ballots Sent with Favorite Candidates Marked. Between Confusing Ballots and Faction Fights Voter has Poor Time.

Sample ballots showing the ever-faithful how to vote having been distributed last week by the Penrose faction of the Republican party, the Brumbaugh-Vare supporters are following suit by sending out tickets with the names of their candidates indicated thereon.

They contain the names of Governor Brumbaugh, for President; Philander C. Knox, for United States Senator; Charles A. Ambler, for Auditor General, no name for State Treasurer; Daniel Lafean and John R. K. Scott, for Congressmen-at-Large, leaving off the names of Thomas H. Crago and Mahlon H. Garland; the names of the Brumbaugh delegates-at-large and alternates to the national convention, headed by Brumbaugh.

Attached to the ticket is a statement to the effect that the names on it are those of "Friends of the Governor and the movement for a re-united Republican party." Then it tells the voter to "keep this list and take it into the polls so that you will make no mistake."

Many voters in this section received copies of the ticket. In some portions of the state the recipients were considerably nonplussed, as the district delegates and State committeemen on it are not considered favorable to the candidacy of the Governor. Its distribution has been the subject of much comment.

The Penrose ticket was distributed some time ago and was similar in its nature to that of the Brumbaugh-Vare one; although, it might be mentioned, different candidates were recommended.

FOR FARM DEMONSTRATOR

Permanent Organization Formed by Meeting at Court House.

An expert in farm work from the State Agricultural College was on hand at the meeting held in the Court House Saturday evening. He explained to a small and interested audience the benefits that might be derived from having a farm demonstrator located in the county.

The meeting was held at the instigation of Tyson Brothers Inc., and a few other progressive farmers for the purpose of taking definite steps to secure such an advisor. Prof. Hibshman, who addressed the gathering, explained how these men had been of inestimable help to farmers in other localities and stated that his salary was paid by State College, while the only expense devolved upon the county in which he is stationed is that contracted in the performance of his duties. This, he said, rarely exceeds the sum of $1,500 per annum. Usually, it is considerably less.

Officers for a permanent organization were elected and they will take the matter before the board of county commissioners at an early date. They are: president, J. L. Butt; vice president, E. F. Strasbaugh; secretary, George M. Rice; treasurer, W. H. Stock; and an executive committee comprising S. M. Keagy, Prof. H. Milton Roth, John Menges and Harry Stitzell.

CATHERINE A. PORTER

Bendersville Woman Died at her Home Sunday Night.

Mrs. Catharine Amelia Porter, wife of Charles A. Porter, died Sunday night at 10:00 o'clock, at her home in Bendersville, from Bright's disease, aged 65 years, 11 months and 14 days.

She was a daughter of the late Daniel G. and Lydia Peters, of Bendersville. She is survived by her husband and four children: Mrs. Charles Mowers, of Lemoyne; James A. Porter, of Altoona; Edward Porter, of Harrisburg; Mrs. Arthur G. Radford, of Valley Centre, Kansas. Also by three brothers: Prof. C. A. Peters, of Brooklyn; Dr. M. R. Peters, of Boiling Springs; Fillmore Peters, of Valley Centre, Kansas.

Funeral services will be held at her late home Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock with Rev. W. D. E. Scott officiating. The body will be buried in Bendersville cemetery. Both the services and interment will be private.

Why Soils Get Dry.

Most partly rotten soils have lost much of the organic matter they had originally. The growing of wheat and corn uses up the soil humus at a rapid rate, and so the time comes when a severe drought destroys the plants on a soil that does not hold the moisture to the extent that it formerly did. Then the plants die, and the farmer blames the dry weather.

Adulteration.

Says the Chicago department of health bulletin: "In morals, adulteration is ever debasing; in food, it works a lie; in air, it is an abomination."

OBSERVED THE DAY

Mother's Day Sees many White Flowers. Special Church Services.

Carnations in evidence signified that Gettysburg people were very generally observing Mother's Day, Sunday. And the fact that it was impossible to procure this insignia of thoughtfulness and devotion after an early hour in the morning prevented a large number of grateful sons and daughters from paying that tribute to Mother.

Many of the churches made reference to the day in the course of their exercises and several ministers preached sermons directly bearing upon the subject. The United Brethren congregation will observe the day next Sunday by a special program. They were unable to have it Sunday because of the absence of their pastor.

Exercise Your Right Vote Tuesday

Would you take a half hour, an hour, an hour and a half of your time to prevent your son from going to war, or going yourself? Would you feel that you were losing time if by giving a little of it you could avert war?

It is possible that if you do not take the time Tuesday next, to go to the polls and vote, weeks, months of your life may be spent away from home with a rifle on your shoulder, and you may lose your life in the end.

A very large percentage of the voters do not seem to realize what an election means; that it is by their vote that matters are decided. With all of this true, make up your minds to allow nothing to prevent your going to the polling place on Tuesday next, vote for President Wilson for the Democratic nomination for President, because he deserves your vote and you know what he has done for this Country; and at the same time do not fail to vote for A. R. BRODBECK as the Democratic nominee for Representative in Congress.

CHAPTER XII.

Penetrating Maple White Land.

AND now we had to decide upon our immediate movements. We shifted our position from among the tick laden bushes until we came to a small clearing thickly surrounded by trees upon all sides. There were some flat slabs of rock in the center, with an excellent well close by, and there we sat in cleanly comfort while we made our first plans for the invasion of this new country. Birds were calling among the foliage, especially one with a peculiar whooping cry which was new to us, but beyond these sounds there were no signs of life.

Our first care was to make some sort of list of our own stores, so that we might know what we had to rely upon. What with the things we had ourselves brought up and those which Zambou had sent across on the rope we were fairly well supplied. Most important of all, in view of the dangers which might surround us, we had our four rifles and 200 rounds; also a shotgun, but not more than 150 medium pellet cartridges. In the matter of provisions we had enough to last for several weeks, with a sufficiency of tobacco and a few scientific implements, including a large telescope and a good fieldglass. All these things we collected together in the clearing, and as a first precaution we cut down with our hatchet and knives a number of thorny bushes, which we piled round in a circle some fifteen yards in diameter. This was to be our headquarters for the time—our place of refuge against sudden danger and the guard-house for our stores. Fort Challenger we called it.

The peaceful penetration of Maple White Land, which we called the new country, was the pressing subject before us. We had the evidence of our own eyes that the place was inhabited by some unknown creatures, and there was that of Maple White's sketchbook to show that more dreadful and dangerous monsters might still appear. That there might also prove to be human occupants and that they were of a malevolent character was suggested by the skeleton impaled upon the bamboo, which could not have got there had it not been dropped from above. Our situation, stranded without possibility of escape in such a land, was clearly full of danger, and our reasons indorsed every measure of caution which Lord John's experience could suggest. Yet it was surely impossible that we should halt on the edge of this world of mystery when our very souls were tingling with impatience to push forward and to pluck the heart from it.

We therefore blocked the entrance to our zareta by filling it up with several thorny bushes and left our camp with the stores entirely surrounded by this protecting hedge. We then slowly and cautiously set forth into the unknown, following the course of the little stream which flowed from our spring, as it should always serve us as a guide on our return.

Hardly had we started when we came across signs that there were indeed wonders awaiting us. After a few hundred yards of thick forest containing many trees which were quite unknown to me, but which Summerlee, who was the botanist of the party, recognized as forms of conifers and of cycadaceous plants which have long passed away in the world below, we entered a region where the stream widened out and formed a considerable bog. Suddenly Lord John, who was walking first, halted with uplifted hand.

"Look at this!" said he. "By George, this must be the trail of the father of all birds!"

An enormous three-toed track was imprinted in the soft mud before us. The creature, whatever it was, had crossed the swamp and had passed on into the forest. We all stopped to examine that monstrous spoor. If it were indeed a bird—and what animal could leave such a mark?—its foot was so much larger than an ostrich's that its height upon the same scale must be enormous. Lord John looked eagerly round him and slipped two cartridges into his elephant gun.

"I'll stake my good name as a slinker," said he, "that the track is of a fresh one. The creature has not passed ten minutes. Look how the water is still cooling into that deeper print! By Jove! See, here is the mark of a little one!"

Sure enough, smaller tracks of the same general form were running parallel to the large ones.

"But what do you make of this?" cried Professor Summerlee triumphant, pointing to what looked like the huge print of a five-fingered human hand appearing among the three-toed marks.

"Weird!" cried Challenger in an ecstasy. "I've seen them in the Wealden clay. It is a creature walking erect upon three-toed feet and occasionally putting one of its five-fingered forepaws upon the ground. Not a bird, my dear Roston—not a bird."

"A beast?"

"No; a reptile—a dinosaur. Nothing else could have left such a track. They puzzled a worthy Sussex doctor some ninety years ago. But who in the world could have hoped—hoped—to have seen a sight like that?

His words died away into a whisper and we all stood in motionless amazement. Following the tracks, we lay left the morass and passed through a screen of brushwood and trees. Beyond was an open glade, and in this were five of the most extraordinary creatures that I have ever seen. Crouching down among the bushes we observed them at our leisure.

There were, as I say, five of them, two being adults and three young ones. In size they were enormous. Even the babies were as big as elephants, while the two large ones were far beyond all creatures I have ever seen. They had slate-colored skin, which was scaled like a lizard's and shimmered where the sun shone upon it. All five were sitting up, balancing themselves upon their broad, powerful tails and their huge three-toed hind feet, while with their small five-fingered front feet they pulled down the branches upon which they browsed. I do not know that I can bring their appearance home to you better than by saying that they looked like monstrous kangaroos, twenty feet in length, and with skins like black crocodiles.

We saw the shimmering slaty gleam of their skins between the tree trunks and their heads undulating high above the brushwood. Then they vanished from our sight.

I looked at my comrades. Lord John was standing at gaze with his finger on the trigger of his elephant gun, his eager hunter's soul shining from his fierce eyes. What would he not give for one such head to place between the two crossed ones above the mantelpiece in his snugger at the Albany? And yet his reason held him in, for all our exploration of the wonders of this unknown land depended upon our presence being concealed from its inhabitants. The two professors were in silent ecstasy. In their excitement they had unconsciously seized each other by the hand and stood like two little children in the presence of a marvel. Challenger's cheeks blushed up into a serpentine smile and Summerlee's sardonic face softened for the moment into wonder and reverence.

"Nunc dimittis!" he cried at last. "What will they say in England of this?"

"My dear Summerlee, I will tell you with great confidence exactly what they will say in England," said Challenger. "They will say that you are an infernal liar and a scientific charlatan, exactly as you and others said of me."

"In the face of photographs?"

"Faked, Summerlee! Clumsily faked!"

"In the face of specimens?"

"Ah, there we may have them! Ma lone and his filthy Fleet street crew may be all yelping our praises yet August the 28th—the day we saw five five-ignadons in a glade of Maple White Land. Put it down in your diary, my young friend, and send it to your rag."

"And be ready to get the toe end of the editorial boot in return," said Lord John. "Things look a bit different from the latitude of London, young fellow my lad. There's many a man who never tells his adventures, for he can't hope to be believed. Who's to blame them? For this will seem a bit of a dream to ourselves in a month or two. What did you say they were?"

"Ignadons," said Summerlee. "You will find their footmarks all over the Hastings sands in Kent and in Sussex. The south of England was alive with them when there was plenty of good lush green stuff to keep them going. Conditions have changed, and the beasts died. Here it seems that the conditions have not changed, and the beasts have lived."

"If ever we get out of this alive I must have a head with me," said Lord John. "Lord, how some of that Somaliland-Uganda crowd would turn a beautiful pea green if they saw it! I don't know what you chaps think, but it strikes me that we are on mighty thin ice all this time."

It was destined that on this very morning—our first in the new country—we were to find out what strange hazards lay around us. It was a loathsome adventure and one of which I hate to think. If, as Lord John said, the glade of the ignadons will remain with us as a dream, then surely the swamp of the pterodactyls will forever be our nightmare. Let me set down exactly what occurred.

We passed very slowly through the woods, partly because Lord Roston acted as scout before he would let us advance and partly because at every second step one or other of our professors would fall, with a cry of wonder, before some flower or insect which presented him with a new type. We may have traveled two or three miles in all, keeping to the right of the line of the stream, when we came upon a considerable opening in the trees. A belt of brushwood led up to a tangle of rocks. The whole plateau was strewn with boulders. We were walking slowly to ward these rocks, among bushes which reached over our waists, when we became aware of a strange, low gabbling and whistling sound, which filled the air with a constant clamor and appeared to come from some spot immediately before us. Lord John held up his hand as a signal for us to stop, and he made his way swiftly, stooping and running, to the line of rocks. We saw him peep over them and give a gesture of amazement. Then he stood staring as if forgetting us, so utterly entranced was he by what he saw. Finally he waved us to come on, holding up his hand as a signal for caution. His whole bearing made me feel that something very wonderful, but dangerous, lay before us.

Creeeping to his side, we looked over the rocks. The place into which we gazed was a pit and may in the early days have been one of the smaller volcanic blowholes of the plateau. It was bowl shaped, and at the bottom, some hundreds of yards from where we lay, were pools of green scummed, stagnant water, fringed with bullrushes. It was a weird place in itself, but its occupants made it seem like a scene from the "Seven Cities of Dante." The place was a rookery of pterodactyls. There were hundreds of them congregated within view. All the bottom area around the water edge was alive with their young ones and with hideous mothers brooding upon their leathery, yellowish eggs. From this crawling, flapping mass of unclean reptilian life came the shocking clamor which filled the air and the mephitic, horrible, musty odor which turned us sick. But above, perched each upon its own stone, tall, gray and withered, more like dead and dried specimens than actual living creatures, sat the horrible males, absolutely motionless save for the rolling of their red eyes on an occasional snap of the rafter beaks as a dragon fly went past them. Their huge membranous wings were closed by folding their forearms, so that they sat like gigantic old women, wrapped in hideous web colored shawls, and with their ferocious heads protruding above them. Large and small, not less than a thousand of these filthy creatures lay in the hollow before us.

TAKES FORTUNE OF $200,000.

Miss Kitching Decides to Accept Uncle's "Tainted Money."

Exercising woman's prerogative of changing her mind, Miss Edith Kitching, who has been living in New York on $3 a week, has notified the surrogate's court that she accepts the $200,000 fortune of her deceased uncle, Francis F. Ripley. On moral grounds she had previously refused to accept even the $40,000 he specifically left her.

"I have not studied philosophy for twenty-five years not to be able to weigh the right and wrong of my first impulse," said Miss Kitching. "I have reasoned it out. When tainted money is passed on to another person that person can use it in a way to remove the taint so far as she is concerned."

The court ignored certain charitable intentions of Ripley's because he had not taken the required legal steps to divide his wealth and informed Miss Kitching she was the sole heir. Miss Kitching says she will use the money in doing good. Ripley amassed it principally through mortgages and other operations to which Miss Kitching objected.

Nut Foam Chocolates.

Two cupsful of sugar, one-half cup of water, one-fourth teaspoonful of cream of tartar, one teaspoonful of vanilla, whites of two eggs; put the sugar, water, cream of tartar into a saucepan. Boil till it will harden in water. Take from the fire and add the vanilla and over the stiffly beaten whites of eggs pour the mixture. Beat until light. Drop by spoonfuls on to a buttered plate that has been spread with finely chopped nut meats. Roll each bonbon in these until entirely coated. Let cool, then dip into an sweetened melted chocolate. They should be allowed to mellow and improve with age.

SENTIMENT NOW AGAINST A WAR

Its Effect on Wilson's Latest Reply to Germany.

POWER OF CONGRESS FELT.

Necessary to Consider Views of Senators and Representatives in Solving Foreign Problems—Why There is Sentiment Against Supreme Court Justices as Presidential Candidates.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 15.—[Special.]—Between the time that President Wilson sent his ultimatum to Germany and the receipt of the German reply an opportunity was afforded to obtain a good idea of the sentiment of congress on the subject of the negotiations.

The administration found that the sentiment of congress, which was backed by a strong sentiment throughout the country, was against precipitating a war with Germany if it could be avoided. Consequently when the German reply was received the administration was not in a position to take a firm stand and demand a more satisfactory answer, for the reason that it did not believe that congress would sustain any such demand.

Although the diplomatic relations of the country are in the hands of the executive, there are certain powers still left with congress, which mean that the executive sometimes has to consider the views of congress even in regard to foreign affairs.

Supreme Court Bugaboos.

One of the reasons why objections are made to having a presidential candidate taken from the supreme bench is thus stated by a politician:

"It would mean that hereafter members of that court would become candidates and we would see the court making decisions in an effort to secure popular favor."

It is the old idea that it is wrong to do what the people want; that the people and even congress must be restrained by a higher power, which cannot be influenced by rewards, such as the office of president.

Prohibition Delayed.

So many things of importance have been pending in the senate that Senator Sheppard of Texas has not had an opportunity to push forward the bill providing for prohibition in the District of Columbia. The probabilities now are that this measure cannot pass before the present session adjourns. Senators who want to get home, while they may be anxious to support prohibition, are not going to the extent of keeping congress in session while they discuss and vote on the subject of shutting liquor out of the national capital. It is likely that this bill will go over to the short session.

Not a Trustful Man.

There was a bill pending which allowed a great deal of latitude to the president in executing it. Congressman Callaway of Texas was opposing the measure, and he was interrupted by Congressman Bennett of New York. "Are you not willing to trust the president of the United States in a matter of this kind?" asked Bennett.

"Well," replied Callaway, "I am not long on trust anyway."

A little later Congressman Temple of Pennsylvania undertook to inject a suggestion into the remarks of Callaway, and when he got through the Texan said, "Oh, that is pure humbug you are trying to work on the house."

Western Men Get Together.

The western men were able to get together on one proposition relating to the forest reserves, conservation and kindred subjects. Not only that, but they were able to agree with the agricultural department and the forestry people. This was on the proposition of spending a million dollars a year for roads and trails through the forest reserves. One argument in favor of the building of such roads and trails was that it would help preserve the forests from fire and also furnish means to market the timber which the forestry service thinks can be disposed of. The western men were influential enough to carry their point with the senate.

For the Rural Communities.

During the discussion of the good roads bill Senator Swanson of Virginia explained the real reason for the measure. "We want the roads in the rural communities improved," he said. "This bill is not intended to build boulevards and roads around the larger cities. It is for the people in the country."

An Indian Problem.

Handling the Indians has always been a most difficult problem, but it is rather an easy matter compared to handling an Indian appropriation bill. Chairman Ashurst knows just what troubles his predecessors on the Indian committee have contended with when they had the Indian bill in charge. It seems almost impossible to satisfy all the senators, but even after the bill is passed there is always a vigorous fight in conference, for there are members of the house who think they know something about Indians and their needs. Ashurst had to take his bill back to conference two or three times before the senate was satisfied with it.

Timely Warning.

A bow-legged man was standing before the office stove warming himself. He gruffly refused to buy a paper from the newsboy who thrust his head in at the door. "Say, mister," called the paper peddler, as he prepared to make his getaway, "you had better get back from the fire; you're beginning to warp." And then the door slammed.

A Comparison.

"Don't you approve of peace?" "Of course, I do," said Miss Cayenne. "Peace is like health. Everybody is entitled to it, and everybody would have it if some microbes didn't come along and spoil it."

Medical Advertising A UNIQUE RECORD

Very Few Like It In Our Broad Republic.

Home testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published in every locality, is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms a still stronger evidence. Years ago, a citizen of Gettysburg gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills—the record is unique.

George W. Bowers, carpenter, 19 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have done more good for me than any other medicine. One of my family always had weak kidneys and the kidney secretions were highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills were used and quickly made a cure."

(Statement given July 23, 1912.) On February 14, 1916, Mr. Bowers added: "You may use my past statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as you wish, for they have been of great benefit to me. I haven't had to use a kidney medicine in some time now, for the results are permanent."

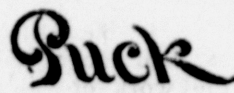

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bowers has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Why We Are Enthusiastic

If everyone could work in a newspaper office long enough to learn the results received from advertising probably everything in this country would be over-advertised. Those of us who come in daily contact with the advertising business are enthusiastic because we have constantly before us the fact that advertising does work that would take unlimited effort of any other sort to produce.

For instance, the small ads of houses for rent, houses wanted, help wanted, lost and found notices bring a daily stream of replies.

The next time you want something within reason, try an advertisement in The Times.

MEXICAN FORCE BARS VILLA HUNT

500 Guerrillas Threaten Major Langhorne's Column.

CLASH IS LOOKED FOR

Americans are awaiting arrival of Colonel Sibley with three troops of Cavalry.

San Antonio, Tex., May 15.—Reports of an encounter between Major Langhorne's cavalry and 500 Mexicans, fifty miles south of the border, at Boquillas, are looked for at any time at General Funston's headquarters.

It was reported that Major Langhorne had halted to await Colonel Frederick W. Sibley, with three troops of the Fourteenth Cavalry. These two bodies will give the Americans about 300 men.

General Funston has arrived in San Antonio from El Paso. Accompanying him were his aide, Captain Fitzhugh Lee, and Brigadier General James Parker. General Funston began discussing measures for the distribution of the militia and the coast artillery now mobilized here.

The mobilization is complete, except for three batteries of the Third Field Artillery, ordered from Tobyhanna, Pa. The last of seven companies of coast artillery to detrain here arrived yesterday. Of the eleven companies ordered west, three went to El Paso and another is marching south from Marathon, to hold the line of communication to Boquillas, on which the troops of the second expedition that of Major Langhorne, are depending.

Reports that Fort Bliss, at El Paso, was set afire twice concerned comments at headquarters here. Both Fort Sam Houston and the San Antonio arsenal are strongly guarded against such contingencies as this.

The notorious bandit leader, Pedro Cedillo, who has invested northern Vera Cruz, two officers and fifty of his men, were killed in an engagement with government forces under General Eugenio A. Lopez at Ciudad del Maiz.

Fifty of the bandits surrendered. General Lopez captured Ciudad del Maiz, and in further skirmishing killed Cedillo's brother, Martin. The fifty captured bandits will be executed. The Carranza losses were few. The battle with the Cedillos is looked upon as the successful beginning of a campaign that will clear northern Vera Cruz of bandits.

General Nafarrete, now at Tampico, wired General Trevino here that he has taken over direction of the campaign with the exception of the port of Tampico.

No Intervention in Mexico.

Washington, May 15.—In spite of the increasing gravity of the Mexican border situation, President Wilson has determined to prevent intervention in Mexico, unless conditions become more aggravated than they are at the present, it was said in well informed circles here.

The statement was inspired by the announcement that the Pan-American nations which participated in the conference at which General Carranza was granted recognition had assured the United States of their moral support in case of intervention.

RUSH AT STATE CAMP

Site at Mt. Gretna Treated as if for Mobilization.

Mt. Gretna, Pa., May 15.—Preparations are being rushed here in anticipation of an early mobilization of the Pennsylvania national guard. Lieutenant Colonel L. V. Rausch, deputy quartermaster general, who has been here some time with a force of arsenal men and laborers, ostensibly engaged in preparing the camp sites and maneuvering grounds for the next annual military encampment, increased his working force, and is rushing the work.

Again much significance is attached to the coming here of Paul Hooker, a state board of health sanitary engineer, with a force of five assistants. Not only are they going over the camp sites and maneuvering grounds, as with a fine toothcomb, but their inspection is to extend from a point a mile east of Mt. Gretna station to Bellairs station, four miles to the west of the park. Many samples of water were taken and forwarded to Harrisburg for analysis.

Daughters of 1812 Elect.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 15.—At the annual state conference of the Daughters of 1812, held here, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Martha Hunter, Norristown; first vice president, Mrs. George W. Reese, Pittsburgh; recording secretary, Mrs. Robert D. Bryce, Homestead; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Solomon Hiney, Steelton; treasurer, Mrs. Theodore Evans, Lansdowne.

Forest Fires Burn 50 Square Miles.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 15.—Forest fires that raged on the Pocono mountains were extinguished after they had spread over an area of fifty square miles. The damage done to timberland was enormous. The fire was put out by a hired band of fire fighters, after a strong wind had died down.

DOGS KILLED FOR FOOD BY BELGIANS

The Relief Committee's Aid is Inadequate.

London, May 15.—According to trustworthy advice received here the food shortage in Belgium is so serious that the people are forced to slaughter their dogs to provide food for themselves.

Recently Mr. Asquith, the British prime minister, stated that the population of Belgium was being placed on short rations. It is believed here that the food shortage in Germany is due largely to the alarming situation.

The suggestion is made that, while the German authorities in Belgium are keeping strictly to the letter of their contract with the American organizers of Belgian relief as approved by the allied governments and are not attempting to divert any supplies sent for the Belgian population, their requisitions upon the home produce of the country are so heavy that foodstuffs sent into the country by the agency of the Belgian relief committee are inadequate to meet the necessities of the population.

On the assumption which seems justified from Mr. Asquith's Mansion house speech that the amount of foodstuffs admitted into Belgium was a strict minimum, calculated to keep the population alive, in conjunction with a certain percentage of home produce, it is obvious that exaggerated requisitions by the German authorities upon native supplies would bring the Belgian population dangerously near the starvation point.

WHISKY REPLACING BEER

Former Shows Tremendous Increase While Latter Decreases.

Washington, May 15.—Notwithstanding the fact that prohibition laws have become effective in seven states since July 1, 1915, approximately 7,500,000 gallons more whisky has been produced in the United States so far this fiscal year ending June 30 than ever before.

Returns to the internal revenue bureau approximate the total increase for the year at 10,000,000 gallons. In the same period the use of beer has fallen more than 1,500,000 barrels, or 45,000,000 gallons, from last year's figures. The total production of beer for the year ending June 30, it is estimated, will be about 60,000,000 gallons less than it was in the last fiscal year.

STUDENTS FIGHT FOREST FIRES

State College Men Aid Rangers in Battling Flames.

State College, Pa., May 15.—More than ten thousand acres of the state's forest reserves in this vicinity have been wiped out by fires which have burned uncontrolled for the last week.

Despite the efforts of hundreds of State college students led by the Forestry school contingent, and assisted by a fire warden and his four rangers, the fires have swept across three mountain tops in the range of the seven mountains. The blaze is beyond the control of the fire fighters and unless threatening thunder showers materialize, there is danger of the Bear Meadow tract, one of the largest reserves in the state, being destroyed.

Although they fought flames in the woods for two days and nights, many students, headed by Prof. J. A. Ferguson, director of Penn State Forest school, returned to the mountains for another night of fire fighting. State Fire Warden Harpster is pressing into service all available help. Scores of automobiles are disregarding speed laws in transporting students and supplies to the burning woodlands.

President E. E. Sparks, of the State college, has issued an appeal for the students to go to the mountains.

FOOT IN FROG. FACES DEATH

Brakeman Self-Possessed After Twenty-four Cars Mangle Him.

Altoona, Pa., May 15.—After preparing to make a coupling in the Pennsylvania yards here, brakeman H. Ward Hall slipped from his car and the next instant his right foot was caught in a switch frog.

He struggled to free himself, but could not. Then he frantically tried to save himself by signaling the engineer, who was pushing a draft of twenty-four cars toward him; but the man on the locomotive could not see him. When members of his crew found him later, his right arm and right leg had been severed, and he was pinned under a big steel car, but still conscious. Every car had run over him. He directed the work of the men who were rescuing him, and was rushed to a hospital, where he died four hours later.

AXMEN TOSS A LINEMAN

Hurl Him From High Pole as Falling Tree Snaps Wire.

York, Pa., May 15.—A dislocated right shoulder was the only injury sustained by Clifton Metzger, a Bell Telephone Lineman of York, when a pole on which he was perched at Railroad, this county, was swept over by a falling locust tree.

His escape from instant death was regarded as almost a miracle.

Metzger was working twenty-five feet in the air, while fellow-linemen were felling the tree some distance away. The axmen miscalculated, and as the tree went down a limb caught the wires attached to the pole, they snapped, and Metzger was hurled through the air a great distance, alighting violently.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

YOUR WHIP HAND.

WHEN mayonnaise, gold cake or custard has left an abundance of egg whites in the pantry try a whip for dessert. It is one of the daintiest and most tempting of sweets and yet has an element of food value that is important.

White of an egg, beaten stiff, is the foundation of all whips. This is sweetened and flavored, and the whip is ready to serve. It is daintiest served in dessert glasses of some sort. Small cakes, nut or coconut macaroons or lady fingers may be passed with whips.

Orange whip is delicious. To make it cut sweet oranges into small dice, free from seeds and inner skin. Sweeten the egg white and add orange pulp and juice, as much as the eggs will take up without getting thin. This whip may be garnished with a few tiny pieces of candied orange peel.

Chocolate whip is made in this way: Melt an ounce of unsweetened chocolate with half a cupful of sugar and a very little water—enough to make a thick syrup. Cook for three or four minutes and cool, and then pour slowly and carefully over four stiff egg whites, mixing it in thoroughly.

Grape Whip.—One-half box of gelatin, one pint of grape juice, one-half cupful of cold water, one-half cupful of sugar or less if the grape juice is very sweet. Cover the gelatin with the cold water and let it soak for one-half hour. Add the sugar and stand the mixture over hot water and stir until dissolved. Pour in the grape juice and put aside until partly jellied, then beat with an ordinary egg whip until the whole mixture is like the white of beaten egg. Turn at once into a mold to harden. Any pure fruit juice may be substituted for the grape juice and makes a very delicate dessert.

CANADIAN INDIAN WINS WAR MEDAL FOR BRAVERY.

Doesn't Know Why He Fights, but He Did Kill One of the Enemy.

F. Pegahibagabow is a Canadian Indian, son of a chief whose tribe lives not far from Toronto. "Peg" is the name by which he is known among the Canadian soldiers fighting in the Ypres salient. Recently he won the D. C. M. (distinguished conduct medal), and after he had received the honor he was forced to tell his trenchmates the story.

"I don't know much," "Peg" began. "I Indian. Live little place in Canada. One day man come, say, 'You ought fight! Say, I fight. Where I go?' He tell me. By and by I get out here. Don't know why I fight. I messenger for officer. He tell me take message, and I take it. One day we have real fight. Captain tell me take message. I take it and come back. Take another message, come back. Find my captain dead. Men they get out trench, go after Germans. Kill my captain. I got something fighting for. Take captain's revolver and go with men. No use staying in trench. We run fast. Somebody say hundred yards, but I think mile. So many bullets flying all around us.

"By and by we come German dugout. We got no bombs left to throw German officer in dugout. I lose my captain's revolver, so use my bayonet. Men say, 'Wait, Peg, we get bombs.' I say, 'I go after him.' Then I go in dugout. German he shoot at me two times."

"Peg" paused. "What'd you do?" chorused half a dozen listeners. "Hell," "Peg" said in the same placid way. "I get him with my bayonet. He can't shoot again. Killed my captain. I got him. I don't know much. I Indian."

TO PRESERVE "HOLY WAY."

French Would Keep Battle Front Just as It Exists Today.

A campaign has been begun in Paris to induce the government to preserve the present French battle line untouched and appoint soldiers to take charge after the war.

This is to enable 600,000 Americans, who have expressed an intention of visiting the battlefield, to see the entrenched line exactly as it is now. The suggested name of the battle line is the "Holy Way."

Choose Success or Failure.

The only road to advancement is to do your work so well that you are always ahead of the demands of your position. Our employers do not decide whether we shall stay where we are or go on and up; we decide that matter ourselves. LADIES! LOOK YOUNG

DARKEN GRAY HAIR
Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

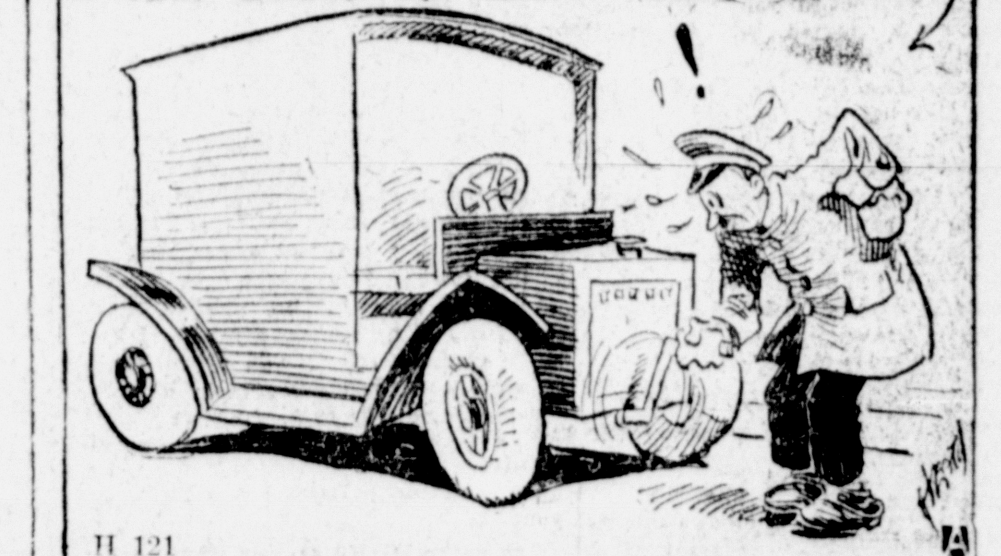

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
